MAYOR ROLPH ON ROAD DOND ISSUE

San Francisco Executive Sees Great Future in Develoment of San Mateo County

James Rolph Jr., Mayor of San Francisco, has made the following statement regarding the proposed bond issue:

"I have been asked for an interview to give expression to my views regarding the proposed bond issue before the people of San Mateo county for the improvement of the roads in their county. It is always with considerable hesitancy that I venture to place myself in the position of apparently "meddling" in my neighbor's affairs. In this instance, the publicity committee of the measure have pressed me for my views of this question.

"I am keenly interested in every optimistic public measure, and am glad, at all times, to see constructive work under consideration in every county, because whatever they do has an indirect bearing upon the advancement of the City of San Francisco. San Francisco and San Mateo counties are particularly closely allied in many obvious ways. San Francisco county is growing and her citizens, by reason of her limited area, are rapidly aiding in the growth of San Mateo county. San Mateo county has always been the home of many whose occupation and employment are in San Francisco. Rapid transportation, a pure and abundant water supply and good roads are absolutely necessary for the life and growth of every community. In these vital public matters, San Francisco and San Mateo counties have been sadly lacking, and I am glad to see that the spirit of the citizens of both communities is a determination to remedy the conditions that have existed in the past.

"San Francisco is doing her best to provide means to constantly improve her streets, and San Mateo likewise, through the means of the proposed bond issue intends to improve her roads.

"In my travels through the east and abroad, I have seen no more attractive home sites and country villas than can be found in beautiful San Mateo county, and an early improvement of the roads, particularly at this time, prior to the opening of the great canal and the holding of the exposition in San Francisco is of paramount importance. In my opinion no public money could be more profitably expended at this time and reap greater returns to the people than the carrying of the bond issue for good roads in San Mateo county, and the judicious expenditure of the money when once authorized by the people.

"I shall be glad to see the bond issue carry, and as a tax payer in SanMateo county I urge its adoption.

RAILROAD COMMISSION CUTS DOWN TELEPHONE RATES

The Railroad Commission has effected another readjustment of telephone rates in the San Francisco-Oakland metropolitan district. The first adjustment embraced the reduction of the transbay rate between San Francisco and Oakland, from 15 cents to 10 cents. This has now been followed by a series of reductions affecting rates on the Oakland side of the bay and on the peninsula.

The rates for particular person service have been readjusted by the Commission as follows:

	Present Rate	New Rate
Oakland - Mill Valley	$.30	$ 25
Oakland - Palo Alto	.30	.25
Oakland - Redwood City	.30	.25
Oakland - San Mateo	.30	.25
Oakland - San Rafael	.30	.25
San Francisco - Hayward	.30	.25

These rates constitute the established minimum tariffs. The Commission made the investigation into the rates on its own initiative and has directed that the reductions become effective at once.

The Commission has now nearly completed its plan of readjustment of the telephone rates in the metropolitan area tributary to the cities of San Francisco and Oakland.

FUGITIVE SLAYER CAUGHT IN PORTOLA VALLEY.

Manuel Lopez, who shot and killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Plassas, and wounded his wife in San Francisco on the 3d instant, was captured in the foothills near Portola Sunday. For three days he had been in a deserted cabin in the Portola valley, but was driven from it by Sheriff Mansfield. Lopez, who was going under another name, admitted his identity to Sheriff Mansfield and was sent to San Francisco.

Speaking of the shooting, Lopez said that the revolver which he shot was discharged accidentally. The police will attempt to convict Lopez of murder, having secured evidence, they say, which shows that he shot while drunk.

The following delegates from this city attended the district convention of the Fraternal Aid at Los Gatos last week: Mrs. Mary Winter, Mrs. Sahlberg, Mrs. William Lipp Jr., and Mrs. Martha George and Chas. T. Cook of San Francisco. They were pleasantly entertained. The next convention will be held in Palo Alto next May.

LA HONDA WOODS ARE ATTRACTING MOTORISTS.

One of the most attractive and popular short tours in the northern part of the state is the run from San Francisco to Halfmoon Bay and La Honda, says the Examiner. This run was unusually popular last season, and as the roads offer every kind of scenery and fine touring, the trip promises to increase in popularity during the winter.

Leaving San Francisco, the motorist should take the Sloat boulevard and county road to San Mateo. Turning at this point, drive by the famous Spring Valley lakes, which afford unusually fine scenery, and then over the Coast range to Halfmoon Bay.

From this place to La Honda includes a trip down the shore of the Pacific ocean, and into the dense timber surrounding La Honda.

Numerous attractive places for lunches are found in the vicinity of La Honda.

Returning from La Honda, the motorist will find good roads into Redwood City, and up through San Mateo.

This trip can be made easily in one day, and as this length of tour is always popular, the run to Halfmoon Bay, La Honda, Redwood City and return will attract many motorists during the next few months.

Besides the route described on this tour, there are many roads leading off the main road that are fine, and offer the additional attraction of touring over new country

MADRI GRAS ROMANCE WILL END IN WEDDING.

The marriage of Miss Lorine Knowles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Knowles of San Jose, and Mr. John D. Bromfield, prominent young clubman of San Mateo and San Francisco, whose engagement was recently announced, will take place quietly at the home of the bride's parents on Thanksgiving day.

The bride is a dashing blond, still in her teens. The couple first met at a Mardi Gras ball held in San Jose, and it was a case of love at first sight.

Bromfield is a member of the San Mateo Polo club of Hillsborough the Peninsula Club of San Mateo and the Press Club. He is a fraternity man, having attended the State University. At present he is engaged in newspaper work.

PLEASANT EVENING AT THE CLUB—COMING EVENT.

The card party at the Woman's Club Tuesday night was well attended, over forty guests being present. Prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Towne. The success of the evening is due to the efforts of Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Landscheit, hostesses.

On the 21st instant the regular business meeting of the club will take place from 2:30 to 3 o'clock. There will be exhibitions of folk and athletic dancing under the direction of Mrs. Cook of Stanford University. Mrs. George Gunther will be hostess.

The Underworld Exposed.

The illustrated lecture given at the Bell theatre Thursday afternoon by John G. Lawlor, entitled "A Newspaper Reporter's Experience in the Under World," was well attended by the ladies and gentlemen of this city, many of whom were made acquainted with conditions that they had not before known of. It was the general sentiment that Mr. Lawlor's expose of these immoral and ruinous features of the metropolis, especially as they relate to innocent girls, will be of great benefit. Mrs. David Graham was the hostess of the Woman's club, under whose auspices the lecture was given. Thanks are extended to Mr. Nathhorst for the use of his theatre.

DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION PLANS FUTURE CONQUESTS

Committee reports received by the Board of Governors of the Development Association at their meeting Tuesday night were of a character that promise further actual achievements in the near future.

With the completion of further field work by County Surveyor Neuman, the report of Advisory Engineer Morton is expected to be in the hands of the Board of Supervisors and following the final decision as to routes, grades and materials, the executive committee of the Advisory Commission on roads will inaugurate a redhot campaign for the passage of the road bonds. Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco who is a taxpayer in this county has come out with a strong statement favoring the passage of the bonds, his argument in their favor covering the ground in a nutshell.

C. M. Morse was appointed to represent the Association at the counties committee meeting of the California Development Board which will be held at Oroville, December 6th. It was reported at the meeting Tuesday night that the Highway Commission would shortly take steps to relieve F. R. Ritchie & Co. ofthe contract for the state highway work between Uncle Tom's Cabin and Burlingame but it is not expected that any actual steps along this line will be taken until the expiration of Ritchie & Co's, the limit for the completion of the work at the end of this month. On November 18th, the Highway Commission will open bids for constructing the state highway between Redwood City and the San Francisquito creek. This stretch of road will consist of an asphalt wearing surface on a macadam base.

The cost of construction of Bernal cut in San Francisco is to be estimated by the city engineer as a result of the proposed plan to divert some of the Mission street traffic through it. The cost of the cut is to be born by the Southern Pacific in return for the right to run its lines, planned for the new electric scheme, through the cut. Careful comparisons with the eastern cities show that the county as a result of the Development Association's work have as low or lower rates than any other commuting section of the country.

Minerva Jocobson, a disconsolate widow, who later becomes Mrs. Hiram Spriggs,. Irene Dickey.

The scene is laid in the mining region of Colorado. Henry Armor, has succeeded in selling his mine for $100,000.00 cash, and for safe keeping hides it in a hollow log near the cabin of his home. Rufus Stone, a local gambler and bad character, sees the money hid and returns later to steal it. Armor happens on the scene, and is killed by Stone in his attempt to get the swag.

Armor trumps up evidence whereby the sweetheart or Armor's daughter, Ruth, John Andrews, is accused of the crime, and sentenced to death by hanging by the jury of vigilantes. Jimmie, the deaf and dum lad, had seen Armor killed, but cannot tell, nor explain to the others, who did the act. He happened on the scene, and watched the vigilantes try Andrews. As they are about to carry out the sentence, Jimmy rushes forward and cuts the rope, releasing Andrews, and covers his retreat into Black Canyon, with a rifle.

Andrews flees, taking Jimmy with him. After a year or so, both return, having struck it rich. Mr. Andrews has taught Jimmy to read and write, and to understand some things by watching the speaker's lips closely.

Andrews finds Stone still here in the camp, and learns that he is planning to swindle Ruth Armor out of the mines her father left her upon his death. As a part of his nefarious schemes he blows up the "Little Ruth" mine, injuring Dalton and the boy Jimmie.

Jimmie, upon meeting Ruth Armor, manages to tell her by signs and writing who killed her father. Stone appears as Jimmie is imparting this information to Miss Ruth, and Jimmie flees in fear. Miss Ruth corners Stone and makes him confess that he is the rightful murderer of her father. Stone becomes mad with anger at being trapped at last, and struggles toovercome Ruth and the lad Jimmie. As he has about done so, John Andrews appears on the scene, and captures Stone.

Stone finally sees his chance to flee, and rushes from the room, throwing himself headlong down the Black Canyon.

General disclosure take place and a happy ending is insured.

Act 1—Twilight in San Juan Mountains in Colorado. Scene, the exterior of Henry Armor's cottage.

Act 2—Light at Monument Rock in Black Canyon.

Act 3—One year later. Morning at the mouth of the "Little Ruth" mine.

Thegates at the entrance to the Tacoma Mill Company's lumber yard were taken down a short time ago to make way for the new street that was constructed through the Tacoma Mill Company's property. The gates were old land marks that were erected by the late Charles Hanson over fifty years ago. They were links that connected th present with the past. Many of the old pioneers of the county, now gathered to their fathers, passed through these portals in doing business with the company. The old must give way to the new, material things as well as abstract matters.

Fred Gleichner, a former resident of this place, was killed by a north-bound train at Edenvale last Wednesday. He was preparing to come to visit his step daughter at San Carlos when the train struck him, killing him almost instantly. The deceased was employed by Congressman Hayes and had resigned his position to make a trip to his boyhood home in Germany and was going to San Carlos to bid good bye to his relatives. Mrs. C. J. Bettin and Miss Gleichner of this city and Miss Gleichner of San Carlos were his step daughters. They have the sympathy of the community in their bereaveemnt.

Tennie Love, beloved wife of Robert C. Love and mother of Clarence, Robert, Lucille and Lewellyn Love, died at her home in San Francisco last Tuesday at the age of 37 years. The deceased was known in this city in her youth as Tennie Knght, step-daughter of the late Simon Knight, the pioneer stage driver and owner, of Redwood City. She attended the local grammar school and was accounted a pretty girl. After her marriage to Love she came to reside in Redwood City and remained here up until six years ago when she went to San Francisco to permanently reside. She was the daughter of Emily F. Duprey, the former wife of Simon K. Knight. The funeral took place yesterday and the interment was in Cypress Lawn Cemetery.

And particularly, that marine pest, the destructive terredo, does not thrive in these waters to attack piling.

The great economic fact involved in this recital, Mr. Merril stated, was that while San Francisco dockage facilties cost many millions of dollars for the purchase of sites, bulkheading and necessary improvements, besides other obstacles that made it a very slow process, this vast extent of south-shore waterfront could be improved at a mere fraction of the expense and be in operation and ready for the opening of the Panama Canal.

The reason that San Jose is reaching out to Alviso, that Palo Alto is building so rapdly in the direction of Ravenswood, and why the Redwood City Harbor Company will commence operations, is because all are seeking terminal sites and terminal freight rates, as well as sites for manufactories. And the plan is to put in a system of docks where ocean carriers can discharge cargo under the most favorable conditions, and where such cargoes can then be segregated and routed to destination through the meeting of water and rail.

Mr. Merrill was listened to very attentively, for the reason that he stands secure upon a well-earned reputation for being conservative in statement and for obtaining actual results. His projects seem to eventuate exactly as first outlined.

E. J. Pringle, the well-known attorney and land operator, spoke on the boulevard system. He intimated that upon the higher slopes of San Mateo county a scenic boulevard could be constructed that would be the admiration of the world.

Other speakers were L. Curran Clark, H. C. Tuchsen, R. W. Barret of Dingee Park, D. R. Stafford, A. D. Walsh, and last but not least R. F. Chilcott, who stood pat for the loyal boosting spirit.

Among those present were P. A. Ryan, A. D. Walsh, R. F. Chilcott, J. F. Johnston, Archer Kincaid, Geo. A. Merrill, D. R. Stafford, R. W. Barret, L. A. Heiner, E. W. Florence, Z. T. Thorning, Dr. G. B. Yount, V. V. Greco, Henry Marcus, L. C. Beardsley, Carl Muller, Robert Bowie, Dr. Cummings, Tom Flynn, F. L. Crosby, John Crown, G. Einstein, C. S. Anderson, Wm. Jamieson, Cornelius Cullen, Donald MacKenzie, T. C. Rice, Frank Zimmerman, George Kreiss, W. H. Lipp Jr., L. B. Winiger, W. H. Adams, Mr. Loomis.

Summarizing the underlying ideas brought out at this eventful gathering, we note the first steps leading up to the meeting of ship and rail, better commercial facilities, and a reaffirmaton in favor of improved highways. As one speaker aptly remarked, it is more than probable every person in that assemblage would live to see the new era of development within San Mateo county.

DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION PLANS FUTURE CONQUESTS

Committee reports received by the Board of Governors of the Development Association at their meeting Tuesday night were of a character that promise further actual achievements in the near future.

With the completion of further field work by County Surveyor Neuman, the report of Advisory Engineer Morton is expected to be in the hands of the Board of Supervisors and following the final decision as to routes, grades and materials, the executive committee of the Advisory Commission on roads will inaugurate a redhot campaign for the passage of the road bonds. Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco who is a taxpayer in this county, has come out with a strong statement favoring the passage of the bonds, his argument in their favor covering the ground in a nutshell.

C. M. Morse was appointed to represent the Association at the counties committee meeting of the California Development Board which will be held at Oroville, December 6th. It was reported at the meeting Tuesday night that the Highway Commission would shortly take steps to relieve F. R. Ritchie & Co. ofthe contract for the state highway work between Uncle Tom's Cabin and Burlingame but it is not expected that any actual steps along this line will be taken until the expiration of Ritchie & Co's, the limit for the completion of the work at the end of this month. On November 18th, the Highway Commission will open bids for constructing the state highway between Redwood City and the San Francisquito creek. This stretch of road will consist of an asphalt wearing surface on a macadam base.

The cost of construction of Bernal cut in San Francisco is to be estimated by the city engineer as a result of the proposed plan to divert some of the Mission street traffic through it. The cost of the cut is to be born by the Southern Pacific in return for the right to run its lines, planned for the new electric scheme, through the cut. Careful comparisons with the eastern cities show that the county as a result of the Development Association's work have as low or lower rates than any other commuting section of the country.

RODGERS WILL CONTEST THE ELECTION OF CASEY

H. C. Rodgers, the defeated candidate for supervisor of the first township, has filed a contest for the office. In his complaint he alleges many irregularities on the part of the election officers of the fourteen precincts. He alleges that many votes that he received were not counted for him. The complaint says that one W. B. Savage, who served on the election board at precinct number two at Colma, was not a qualified to act as such and furthermore that during the progress of the election he left the polling place and electioneered for James T. Casey. The complaint also alleges that Mrs. George Burnett was not qualified to sit on the election board at precinct number two at San Bruno. She also electioneered for Casey at the polls, contrary to law. Five votes at that precinct were thrown out that should have been counted for Rodgers. The complaint is very lengthy and many allegations of fraud are made. Judge Buck has set November 25th as the time for hearing the contest and counting the ballots. H. M. Owens and Kenneth Green are the attorneys for Rodgers.

LOCAL THESPIANS WORK FOR CHARITY'S SAKE

The melodrama in four acts, "Down Black Canyon, or the Silent Witness," which will be presented this evening under the auspices of Redwood Parlor, N. S. G. W. and Bonita Parlor, N. D. G. W., promises to be well attended. The following is a synopsis of the play and the cast of characters:

John Andrews, a young mining engineer, Judge Lampkin.

Henry Armour, a mine owner, Jacob Kreiss.

Hiram Spriggs, the Rockey Mountain poet, B. Zimmerman.

Ruus Stone, a gambler, F. Zimmerman.

Thomas Dalton, a young prospector, Jean McAuliffe.

Frank Thorne, leader of the Vigilantes, L. W. Braden.

Jim Mosier and Solomon Goldstein, sheriff of San Joaquin county, Chas. Curran.

Jimmie, the silent witness, Floyd Smith.

Hugh Thompson, foreman of the jury, Chas. Lane.

Bill Stevens, a minor, Jacob Kreiss.

Ruth Armour, daughter of Henry Armour, Carrie Read.

Kate Armour, sister of Ruth, Florence Holbrook.

Minerva Jocobson, a disconsolate widow, who later becomes Mrs. Hiram Spriggs,. Irene Dickey.

The scene is laid in the mining region of Colorado. Henry Armor, has succeeded in selling his mine for $100,000.00 cash, and for safe keeping hides it in a hollow log near the cabin of his home. Rufus Stone, a local gambler and bad character, sees the money hid and returns later to steal it. Armor happens on the scene, and is killed by Stone in his attempt to get the swag.

Armor trumps up evidence whereby the sweetheart or Armor's daughter, Ruth, John Andrews, is accused of the crime, and sentenced to death by hanging by the jury of vigilantes. Jimmie, the deaf and dum lad, had seen Armor killed, but cannot tell, nor explain to the others, who did the act. He happened on the scene, and watched the vigilantes try Andrews. As they are about to carry out the sentence, Jimmy rushes forward and cuts the rope, releasing Andrews, and covers his retreat into Black Canyon, with a rifle.

Andrews flees, taking Jimmy with him. After a year or so, both return, having struck it rich. Mr. Andrews has taught Jimmy to read and write, and to understand some things by watching the speaker's lips closely.

Andrews finds Stone still here in the camp, and learns that he is planning to swindle Ruth Armor out of the mines her father left her upon his death. As a part of his nefarious schemes he blows up the "Little Ruth" mine, injuring Dalton and the boy Jimmie.

Jimmie, upon meeting Ruth Armor, manages to tell her by signs and writing who killed her father. Stone appears as Jimmie is imparting this information to Miss Ruth, and Jimmie flees in fear. Miss Ruth corners Stone and makes him confess that he is the rightful murderer of her father. Stone becomes mad with anger at being trapped at last, and struggles toovercome Ruth and the lad Jimmie. As he has about done so, John Andrews appears on the scene, and captures Stone.

General disclosure take place and a happy ending is insured.

Act 2—Light at Monument Rock in Black Canyon.

Act 3—One year later. Morning at the mouth of the "Little Ruth" mine.

The annoucemet in the city papers recently to the effect that the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company had reduced its tolls rom 30 to 25 cents is an error. Thegates at the entrance to the Tacoma Mill Company's lumber yard were taken down a short time ago to make way for the new street that was constructed through the Tacoma Mill Company's property. The gates were old land marks that were erected by the late Charles Hanson over fifty years ago. They were links that connected th present with the past. Many of the old pioneers of the county, now gathered to their fathers, passed through these portals in doing business with the company. The old must give way to the new, material things as well as abstract matters.

Fred Gleichner, a former resident of this place, was killed by a north-bound train at Edenvale last Wednesday. BOARD OF TRADE BANQUETS BOOSTERS

Representatives of San Francisco Commercial Bodies Urge Concerted Action.

Tuesday evening a delegation of members from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce was entertained at Bernasque's cafe by the Redwood City Board of Trade. Those welcome visitors and representatives were F. J. Koster, E. J. Pringle and L. Curran Clark. P. A. Ryan presided during the speechmaking.

Mr. Koster, the first speaker, explained that the Chamber of Commerce maintained a committee on co-operation with various commercial organizations. In that spirit they were present as guests of the Redwood City Board of Trade, to offer its services and learn of any manner in which they might be helpful to our interests.

George A. Merrill, president of the city council made the speech of the evening in reply on account of the definite nature of his remarks and their considerable import.

Mr. Merrill said that a new concern, the Redwood City Harbor Company, had been properly financed and organized, and that within thirty days its engineers would be at work on development plans.

The proposition is, that San Mateo county possesses fully thirty miles of water frontage suitable for harbor purposes, dockage and terminal facilities, and these were to be developed at various points, exploited and utilized.

Later in the evening it was announced by Mr. Koster that a joint delegation of San Francisco and San Mateo county business men would probably be organized, as suggested by Mr. Merrill, to charter a steamer and inspect these various south-bay terminal properties.

Mr. Merrill had explained that so far as capitalists and the general public were concerned, they little dreamed of the vast south-bay resources, and that the only way to bring them to a proper understanding of such matters was to show them right upon the various sites, as proposed by chartering a steamer. He explained how a fair-sized steamer could even now sail directly up the main channel and tie up alongside our bank block.

Along this south-bay territory an extensive artesian belt furnished in unlimited quantities water suitable for manufacturing uses. Beneath the tidal surface solid foundation exists. And particularly, that marine pest, the destructive terredo, does not thrive in these waters to attack piling.

The great economic fact involved in this recital, Mr. Merril stated, was that while San Francisco dockage facilties cost many millions of dollars for the purchase of sites, bulkheading and necessary improvements, besides other obstacles that made it a very slow process, this vast extent of south-shore waterfront could be improved at a mere fraction of the expense and be in operation and ready for the opening of the Panama Canal.

The reason that San Jose is reaching out to Alviso, that Palo Alto is building so rapdly in the direction of Ravenswood, and why the Redwood City Harbor Company will commence operations, is because all are seeking terminal sites and terminal freight rates, as well as sites for manufactories. And the plan is to put in a system of docks where ocean carriers can discharge cargo under the most favorable conditions, and where such cargoes can then be segregated and routed to destination through the meeting of water and rail.

Mr. Merrill was listened to very attentively, for the reason that he stands secure upon a well-earned reputation for being conservative in statement and for obtaining actual results. His projects seem to eventuate exactly as first outlined.

E. J. Pringle, the well-known attorney and land operator, spoke on the boulevard system. He intimated that upon the higher slopes of San Mateo county a scenic boulevard could be constructed that would be the admiration of the world.

Among those present were P. A. Ryan, A. D. Walsh, R. F. Chilcott, J. F. Johnston, Archer Kincaid, Geo. A. Merrill, D. R. Stafford, R. W. Barret, L. A. Heiner, E. W. Florence, Z. T. Thorning, Dr. G. B. Yount, V. V. Greco, Henry Marcus, L. C. Beardsley, Carl Muller, Robert Bowie, Dr. Cummings, Tom Flynn, F. L. Crosby, John Crown, G. Einstein, C. S. Anderson, Wm. Jamieson, Cornelius Cullen, Donald MacKenzie, T. C. Rice, Frank Zimmerman, George Kreiss, W. H. Lipp Jr., L. B. Winiger, W. H. Adams, Mr. Loomis.

Summarizing the underlying ideas brought out at this eventful gathering, we note the first steps leading up to the meeting of ship and rail, better commercial facilities, and a reaffirmaton in favor of improved highways. As one speaker aptly remarked, it is more than probable every person in that assemblage would live to see the new era of development within San Mateo county.

The celebrated Markgraf's orchestra of San Francisco will furnish the music for the masquerade ball to be given under the auspices of Court Madrone, Foresters of America, Thanksgiving Eve. The proceeds of the ball will go to the Foresters' concert band which has been organized with thirty members under the direction of Prof. Bradley.

ELECTRICAL DEVELOMENT OUTLINED TO MEN'S CLUB

The open meeting of the Men's Club of St. Peter's parish, which was held last Tuesday evening proved a most interesting and instructive affair, both from an artistic and instructive view point. The entire evening was devoted to an illustrated talk on electrical development by George C. Holburton, manager of the San Francisco District of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company. For the purpose of more clearly developing his subject. Mr. Holberton, by means of an electric lantern, exhibited a large number of artistically colored slides, and it was for the purpose of providing ample opportunity for the display of these that the large room at the gymnasium was secured for the occasion.

Practically, Mr. Holberton's talk was confined to a sketch of the development made by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company over the central portion of the state. Making no effort at oratory, by means of the pictures thrown upon the screen and short descriptive talks, Mr. Holberton briefly sketched the growth of the immense business of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, the pioneers in the development of this giant enterprise of the central counties of the state.

This interesting and instructive entertainment was but the introductory effort of the Men's Club, designed primarily to indicate the scope of the work which it is intended to accomplish in the community, and will in time be followed by lectures by other men and women of prominence. While an adjunct of St. Peter's parish, the club membership is open to all men who may desire to avail themselves of its benefits.
